Washington Roundup

In Washington today a careful survey shows that if party harmony and enthusiasm will win the presidency next November, the Republicans have already won. The Republicans are heading toward the election well-organized, harmonious, confident and militant while the national democratic organization is rather rejected, torn with internal dissension over the new deal and somewhat uncertain of its fate.

Meanwhile, establishment of an Anglo-American petroleum board to control production in the Middle East is seen as the logical outcome of the discussions which began yesterday between oil experts of the two governments.

On Capitol Hill a bill to extend the lend-lease act beyond its present expiration date of June 30 is moving toward certain passage in the house. There is some possibility, however, that administration foes might muster strength enough to impose a curb on presidential authority in final settlements.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard and a war food administrator Marvin Jones, it is disclosed, have delivered to a senate appropriations subcommittee a strong demand for funds for the farm security administration by denying it funds in the annual agriculture supply bill now before the senate committee.

Jones agency and the coordinator of fisheries, it is learned meanwhile, plan to allocate fish to wholesalers in an attempt to wipe out black market operations and monopolies. No consumer rationing of fish is contemplated.

Siege Guns Are Hurling Blasts Into Sevastopol

Historic "Valley Of Death" Is Taken Over By Russian Forces

NEW ATTACK IS OPENED IN POLAND

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 19.—Soviet tankmen and charging Cossack cavalymen who cleared the storied Crimean "Valley of Death" of the Germans stormed to within seven miles below Sevastopol today while siege guns blasted the enemy stronghold from positions scarcely a mile above the strategic city.

Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's special maritime army legions captured historic Balaklava, after racing across the same plain which was the scene of the gallant but costly British "Charge of the Light Brigade" in the Crimean war 90 years ago. Thus the Russians forced the southern arm of a pincer's tightening on the key Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol. Fourth Ukrainian army forces were within eight miles east of the city and just across the narrow bay of Sevastopol in the northeast.

Fire Over Sevastopol

Izvestia, official government newspaper, said a "haze of fire" hangs over Sevastopol, which is "choked" with Germans who are pressed against the sea. The Red fleet's air force is blasting their evacuation flotillas, sinking barges, cutters and steamers, the paper added.

Await Reply From Sweden On 'Gag' Action

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 19.—Official British circles today awaited an anticipated reply from Sweden on the recently-imposed "gag" act, believing the note may contain a hint as to the reaction of other neutrals to the drastic step.

Britain meanwhile continued its drive to render the invasion "leak-proof" by announcing that all cross-channel shipping services from Cork have been cancelled. Authoritative sources said it was hoped, however, that a skeleton service with Dublin still may be maintained from Britain.

May Request Clarification

Observers predicted that Stockholm may request further clarification of the law, which brought to a virtual end the diplomatic immunity of allied and neutral representatives in Britain in a move to halt possible leakages of information of the forthcoming invasion of western Europe. Other sources felt that Sweden would "reserve all rights" and possibly protest strongly on the grounds that her privileges under international law had been shattered.

The terms of the act, which went into effect at midnight Monday, specified that it applied to neutrals and allies, with the exception of Russia and the United States.

Swedish press reaction failed to give a hint of the note's tone, with two of Stockholm's leading dailies taking opposite stands. The Aftonbladet declared that acceptance of the step "would mean a kind of acquiescence in an attack against their (the neutrals') sovereignty."

Action Is Logical

But Allehand declared: "From the neutral point of view there is nothing to say against the (Continued On Page Two)

Diplomatic 'Gag' Is Precedent For World

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N. S.)

NEW YORK, April 19.—The move on the part of the British government literally to quarantine all Allied and neutral diplomats other than those belonging to Russia, the United States, and the British Commonwealth, as well as to place them under the strictest censorship basis, is most interesting when considered in relation to the military wartime necessities.

New Precedent

Britain's action in regard to the diplomats establishes an entirely new wartime precedent as to the treatment of neutral ministers and ambassadors. It establishes a precedent which should be followed to an extent by the Argentinian bloc of South American countries, Spain, Portugal, Turkey, Switzerland and Sweden. It shows them how they can maintain strict neutrality. It has been generally known that Axis diplomats under the cloak of their long-granted immunities have actually performed and caused to be performed acts of military espionage which originated in their embassies and their ministries.

The basis of diplomatic immunity has been entirely too broad and too trustful. An ambassador or a minister, all of the attacks and all of the intrigue were immune from any interference, as far as the ambassador's residence and place of operation. (Continued On Page Two)

Four Families Made Homeless

Families Of Three Barely Escape Flames In Apartment On Croton Avenue

FIREMEN OF CITY DO SPLENDID JOB

Four families were made homeless, losing most of their possessions and barely escaping with their lives, when fire broke out in the frame business and apartment building at 1292-1294 Croton avenue, just a few minutes before five o'clock this morning. Two alarms were sounded from Box 33. Fire Chief James E. Thomas stated, which summoned five fire companies to the scene, and they did a splendid job of extinguishing the blaze which threatened to destroy the entire building. The structure, owned by H. L. Allen, consisted of two storerooms and four apartments. One of the storerooms was unoccupied. Insurance was carried on the building, and the stock of the Clover Farm Grocery, owned by Mrs. J. E. Rodgers and son, at 1294 Croton avenue, but no insurance was carried by the four families residing in the building.

Apartment Occupants

Those residing in the apartments, were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Trott, and son; Mr. and Mrs. James Trott, and three children; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trott, and four children; and Mrs. Harry Confer. The blaze was discovered by Dave Trott when his alarm clock went off a few minutes before five o'clock, and by the time the alarm had been spread, the entire structure seemed to be afire. All made their escape scantily clad, and were cared for by neighbors.

Tenth Air Force Scores Burma Hits

Heavy And Medium Bombers Hit Oil Plants And Rail Line

NEW DELHI, April 19.—(INS)—Heavy new air attacks by big bombers of the U. S. 10th Air Force on objectives in Burma were announced by the southeast Asia command today.

Several probable hits were scored on the Japanese-held Yenangung oil points.

Medium bombers attacked the Mandalay-Shawbo railway line, dropping bombs at half-mile intervals between Sagala and Shawbo.

Not only did the Allied troops on the Burmese front, the Nazi thrusts, they staged a raid of their own. A patrol penetrated the right flank of the German lines and soon returned with 10 prisoners.

In the Cisterna sector allied artillery batteries scored hits on five enemy gun positions, while a Nazi ammunition dump went up in smoke after other heavy heavy gunners in the Garigliano river sector got its range.

British and American mortars raked an enemy machine-gun position south of Cassino, where slight enemy mortar and artillery fire was reported.

War Production Will Be Reduced On Nazi Collapse

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, told a Senate Military Affairs committee today that war production will be sharply cut and production of civilian goods will be increased when Germany collapses.

He urged speedy enactment of a contract termination legislation, so that the nation can prevent unemployment by encouraging a quick shift from war to peace goods production.

CBS heard the broadcast which placed at 35 the number of Nazi interceptors shot down.

Widespread Air Assaults Made In Pacific Area

Vital Sea Approach To Truk Is Heavily Bombed By Yanks

MANY JAP BASES TARGETS OF BOMBERS

By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HQ, NEW GUINEA, April 19.—An important Japanese airport runway guarding the sea approaches to the Truk naval base lay battered and useless today in the wake of the first American aerial attack upon one strategic island group in the Carolines.

Solomon-based Liberator bombers rendered the runway on Stawan in the Nomoi island chain, which forms part of the Caroline group, "temporarily unserviceable." Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced. It was the war's first raid on Satawan, 150 miles southeast of Truk, and apparently caught the enemy off-guard.

Thirty-four tons of bombs were dropped on the island, known as a buffer and intercepter concentration point for Truk.

Widespread Attacks

The attack pointed up a new series of widespread air assaults which saw more than 150 planes blast important targets in New Britain. Rabaul's three airbases—Vunakana, Tobera and Keravat—were heavily pounded from four-motored and two-motored bombers which lowered more than 125 tons of explosives on the fields. Other squadrons, operating off New Guinea, hit heavily at the straining enemy communication net work and were credited with the destruction of two luggers and the sinking of a 2,500-ton freighter, endeavoring to supply Japanese units from Hollandia eastward.

Meanwhile, late reports from the last attack on Hollandia itself, although still incomplete, showed that at least 296 tons of bombs, and probably more, were loosed on that once-formidable airport center Saturday night.

The Vauquois-Alp area of New Guinea also was hit by aerial patrols in the latest series of blows against enemy nerve centers while fighter outfits lashed out at supply dumps and buildings at Bogia, Dogmur Bay and Binabun.

New Britain Included

New Britain also was the scene of small-scale night stabs which resulted in the destruction or damage of a number of buildings.

Four Attacks By Nazis Repulsed

Assaults Are Made Against Western Flank Of Anzio Beachhead

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN

NAPLES, April 19.—Allied infantry troops, backed by mortar and machine-gun squads, today snatched back four Nazi attacks against their positions along the western flank of the Anzio beachhead.

The Germans opened their assaults by throwing two diversionary raids against one big allied position and then striking in company strength at two spots near Carroceto.

All assaults were broken up by withering fire from the defending forces. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander, announced.

In the Cisterna sector allied artillery batteries scored hits on five enemy gun positions, while a Nazi ammunition dump went up in smoke after other heavy heavy gunners in the Garigliano river sector got its range.

British and American mortars raked an enemy machine-gun position south of Cassino, where slight enemy mortar and artillery fire was reported.

Still Waiting For Commando Kelly

Watch Is Resumed At Pittsburgh For Arrival Of City's War Hero

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—(INS)—A small army of tired news reporters and police officials today resumed their watch for the arrival of "Commando" Sgt. Charles Kelly, Pittsburgh's winner of the Congressional medal of honor—the little man who isn't here, contrary to hundreds of rumors.

Since last Saturday those Kelly reports have had thousands of Pittsburghers walking around in circles. The latest was a declaration by army officers that Kelly is not even in the United States.

Everything is ready for a huge welcome when he does show up. In front of the city-county building a reviewing stand has been constructed. The suite formerly occupied by Col. Richard K. Mellon, Pennsylvania chief of selective service, has been reserved in Hotel William Penn's eleventh floor for the hero of the Italian battlefront.

The dinner for a hundred relatives and friends, which was almost cooked last night on the strength of a false rumor, once again is ready to go on the hotel's stove.

The band is ready to lead a huge parade in honor of the soldier who killed at least 40 Germans in battle.

So, the only thing lacking is Kelly himself.

"Anybody here seen Kelly?"

Terrific Night Attack By R. A. F. Followed By Gigantic U. S. Raid

KASSEL IS CHIEF TARGET OF DAY BULLETIN

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 19.—Formations of American bombers and fighters, believed 2,500 strong, plastered aircraft production centers inside Germany and military targets in northern France today in the second successive record daylight bombardment aimed at destruction of the Luftwaffe.

The newest cycle of round-the-clock assaults in which squadrons estimated at 5,000 and 6,000 craft participated is believed to have established a new record for a 24-hour period.

LONDON, April 19.—Huge armadas of American B-17 fortresses and Liberators struck at Nazi Germany for the second time in 24 hours today and blasted Kassel, vital Prussian communications hub, and other nearby cities on the heels of a near-record RAF night blow against rail lines serving the French invasion coast.

An official American headquarters statement announced that the attack, leveled against Kassel, and other towns east of Hamm, "was carried out in very great strength." It did not immediately identify the other targets.

Allied Mines Halt Traffic In Danube

Mines Planted By Fliers Stop Nazi Traffic On Main Waterway

BULLETIN

NAPLES, April 19.—(INS)—Mediterranean-based Allied aircraft ceaselessly waging a war against vital enemy communication lines in the Italian-Balkan theatre, were revealed today to have forced the Nazis to abandon traffic on their greatest waterway in the Balkans.

In the wake of Bunaest and Bucharest, announcements that traffic on the strategic and commercially-important Danube would be halted "because of the danger of mines," an Allied headquarters spokesman declared that RAF Liberators and Wellington bombers owed the explosives in the stream.

The project was completed over a period of several nights, and the mine-laying missions were coordinated with the regular day-and-night bombing of Balkan communications. (Continued On Page Two)

Police Report Man Confesses Slaying Woman

Pittsburgh Man Is Held For Brutal Slaying Of His Housekeeper

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—(INS)—Henry Gerhart, 45-year-old Pittsburgh trucking operator, today admitted to police the brutal slaying of his housekeeper, Josephine Reed, 38, of Paducah, Ky., one-time resident of Akron, Ohio.

Gerhart, police said, told them that he beat the woman to death with his fists in a jealous rage because he thought she was paying too much attention to another man, Robert E. Root, 40, who is being held as a material witness.

Authorities said Gerhart telephoned a north side police station early this morning and told the desk sergeant:

"You had better send the police right away."

Officers found the woman, her clothes on from her body, lying on a bedroom floor and covered by a blanket. She was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Allegheny General Hospital.

Donald Gerhart, 12-year-old son, said he had been sleeping in the bedroom in which the beating occurred and that he witnessed the tragedy. Police said Gerhart's wife lives in Akron.

Gerhart was taken to a hospital and treated for lacerations of the hands before being incarcerated. Authorities said he sometimes used the alias of Harry Miller.

In Italy, American fighter-bombers pounded railroad installations and rail bridges all the way from the battlefronts to the Florence area. Highlighting a day's activities, in which the heavy bombers did not participate, "extensive" assaults were carried out against locomotives, rolling stock and trucks.

Baltimore and Marylanders bombed two bridges and a factory on the east coast of Italy, obtaining "good results."

During the day, the Mediterranean air force flew a total of nearly 1,000 sorties with a loss of eight planes which were reported "missing." Nine enemy planes were destroyed in combat, however, and but a total of 20 Nazi craft put in an appearance over the battle areas.

ation was concerned, his conveyances for travel and his communications with his own country.

Because of that, a subordinate who might be a spy in any diplomatic set-up. Allied or neutral, could with complete safety send his messages to the outside world within the heretofore-considered-sacred diplomatic mail pouch.

Proper Move

We may be thankful that Britain has become tough enough to take no chances of such information being transmitted through those channels, either intentional or unintentional. Should any Axis authorities be informed as to the hour and day on which the Allied invasion will commence, it would mean death to thousands on thousands of men of the Allied armed forces.

The psychological effect of such diplomatic political action by the British government of the men of our armed forces will be beneficial. Soldiers are inclined to cuss politicians. This latest move on the part of Britain will make our fighting men feel that politicians are working for their safety.

The psychological effect on our enemies will be tremendous. They realize that at last we have thrown aside the soft method of dealing which allowed them to get away with anything under the cloak of immunity.

It goes much further than that. Since Britain has set the precedent, it is entirely possible that all of the United Nations may demand that until the close of the war, all of the embassies and ministries in neutral countries shall be placed under similar restrictions.

In other words, Britain's action will have a strong "war of nerves" effect on the Axis.

Four Japanese shore batteries were damaged by torpedo and dive bombers which struck at the Mamagata sector of Bougainville and at Buka. Other patrols over the same general territory destroyed a bridge at Kieta and a jetty at Nuanuma and damaged several large buildings.

While naval units shelled enemy positions at Mibo and along the mouth of the Tekessi river near Choiseul, medium and dive bombers struck hard at vital installations in adjoining areas. One plane was lost in these operations.

In the northeastern sector, a Japanese four-engine flying boat was shot down by air patrols near the Mapia islands, while heavy bombers dumped 21 tons of explosives on the Faan airdrome and its supply areas.

Eight Japanese fighters attempted to intercept the American planes carrying out this attack. One Japanese craft was listed as probably destroyed. No American planes lost.

however, the German army launched a large-scale counter-push inside pre-war Poland east of Stanislaw. Apparent objectives of this thrust, the early stages of which were marked with no success but heavy enemy losses, was to crack the center of the Russian bulge that has surged up to the Carpathian passes and into northern Rumania.

As many as 15 enemy counter-attacks were repulsed in a single day, with the Germans "suffering heavy losses in men and equipment," according to an official Soviet communiqué. Russian army artillery and tank-busters disabled or burned out 18 German tanks, and 30 armored vehicles laden with Nazi tommy-guns.

Second Siege Opens

With beginning of the war's second siege of Sevastopol apparently already under way, the German and Rumanian garrison was offering "desperate" resistance. Ready for a last-ditch stand, probably to cover a "Dunkerque" evacuation attempt, the Axis forces erected barricades in the streets and blew up bridges over mountain streams on the city's approaches.

In falling back into the stronghold, the Germans used their Rumanian satellites as "covering units." The Russian announcement said tommy-guns and machine-guns were placed behind the unfortunate rear guard.

"At the slightest attempt on the part of the Rumanians to desert or to retreat the Germans opened fire on their Allies, added the communiqué. Russian army continued blasting enemy convoys in the Black Sea, as well as concentrations of vessels both in Rumanian and Crimean ports, thus further hampering Axis evacuation efforts.

Long-range Soviet bombers were credited with starting large fires and touching off numerous explosions at the port and railway installations in Constanta, major Rumanian port nearest to the Crimea. The raid, carried out Monday night, was the second against that city inside of a week.

Daring Rescue Of Downed Airmen Occurs At Rabaul

AN ADVANCED SOLOMONS

BASE, April 19.—(INS)—Downed within range of Jap guns on Rabaul, seven army airmen were rescued by a PBY flying boat piloted by Ensign W. C. Cook.

Cook made the rescue in the Catalina flying boat, dubbed "Dumbo" because it's so big and slow. He landed in the water an hour after Lieut. R. W. Reed, Pittsburgh, Pa., was forced down a mile off Cape Gazelle with one of the motors of his Mitchell bomber shot out and the other damaged and two crewmen wounded.

"Dumbo" found four crew members in a rubber boat which three other airmen in the water were trying to tow out of gun range.

"Dumbo" made the landing in the open sea, picked up all seven airmen and landed the two wounded at a base hospital within an hour. Staff Sergeants W. N. Price, Canton, Pa., and A. C. Valentine, Philadelphia, were treated for minor wounds.

Don Ricardo Sain, just consul-general of the Argentine embassy, narrowly beat the travel ban by leaving England only 48 hours before the law was announced.

Nazi propagandists, who asserted as soon as the ban went into effect that it meant invasion day is near, opened all stops today in an attempt to discredit the British action. The Germans denounced the step as one of "crude brutality" which allegedly only reflected British jittery over the projected invasion.

CANNOT SURRENDER

THE ANSWER to the question why Japanese continue to cling to outposts to the last man seems to be that Japan cannot evacuate these forces. Every time Tojo sends ships and escort vessels to rescue Japanese forces that have been cut off from supply lines, the ships are sunk by U. S. naval or air action.

There is nothing left for the Japanese to do but fight. Surrendering to the enemy is almost unheard of in the Pacific war. Not since Corregidor have any appreciable number of Americans surrendered.

There is a growing belief that more Japs would surrender were the United Nations willing to let them. One of the observations an American officer, home after fighting in the South Pacific, makes is that U. S. and Australian troops cannot be sure when the Japs really want to surrender. Some have walked out with a white flag flying and, when the Allies were off guard, opened fire.

There is no sympathy for the Nips. They have violated every rule of warfare and if they cannot surrender it is because of their own treachery. American officers are eager to get Jap prisoners because as a rule the Jap prisoner talks freely. This seems to be an exuberant reaction stemming from his surprise that he isn't shot on the spot, as his officers have told him he would be if he surrendered.

FOR END OF DIPLOMATIC BUNK

With publication of State department papers of 1929 it is noted that the Japanese government evaded a proposal for a visit by American warships to Marshall Islands ports. The Japs, who were busy as ants constructing military and naval installations there, in defiance of solemn engagements not to do so, naturally didn't want any Americans around.

They explained blandly that our naval vessels might frighten the natives and, besides, there weren't any good harbors. Of course it was bunk and our government knew it. There was no occasion to doubt that the Japanese were fortifying these and numerous other mandated islands.

For years the United States Government not only suspected but must have known that the Japs were up to something. But we ignored it and sent them oil, steel and other vital war materials almost up to the date of the Pearl Harbor attack.

One postwar plan we certainly should adopt is to abandon that kind of sissy sweet diplomacy and see to it that treaties affecting our national safety are lived up to scrupulously, especially by potential enemies, or know the reason why.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

MOUNTBATTEN'S TROUBLES

Big things were expected when Lord Louis Mountbatten was made Allied supreme commander in southeast Asia.

When he took his new post, Lord Mountbatten had behind him a distinguished record as a young but daring and experienced naval officer and as chief of Britain's Commandos. He was expected to inject a healthy amount of his vigor and spirited leadership into a theater of war in which the Allied cause could hardly be said to have prospered.

American, British and American-trained Chinese troops are operating far behind Japanese positions in Burma. In almost impossible jungle terrain they have succeeded in wrecking Japanese supply lines, advancing the new Leda Road a number of miles toward China, and killing several thousand Japanese. Their operations, though limited, have been superbly carried out.

But Japanese troops in considerable force have crossed the border from Burma into India. As the Allied troops in Burma are cutting Japanese supply lines, so the Japanese seek to cut Allied supply lines in India.

There is no reason to believe that Lord Mountbatten has lost any of his vigor, daring or qualities of leadership. There is no reason to believe that friction has developed between him and war-wise Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. But the fact that outstanding developments have failed to materialize in a war theater under the orders of a commander so dynamic is a reasonable indication that the support necessary to bring such developments about has not been provided.

The best thing that can come of the Japanese invasion of India is to force the Allies to settle on one policy in the Mountbatten theater and give him the tools, insofar as the demands of the European and Pacific fronts will permit, and the green light to carry out his job.

WORLD-WIDE SPELLING BEE

When the Russians moved into Rumania fast on the heels of the fleeing Germans, the readers of one newspaper discovered that one of the chief Soviet objectives was the city of Cernauti. Readers of another newspaper learned that it was Czenowiz the Reds were after.

Sometimes these two names appeared in the same newspaper. Public confusion was natural, for Cernauti and Czenowiz are the same place. The spelling depended on whether the dispatch carried an Associated Press, United Press or International News Service identifying mark. One is the native spelling, the other the Anglicized version.

Now the three major news services have decided on a uniform style. That style is based on the usage of the National Geographic Society, which in turn follows the form current in the various foreign countries themselves.

But the newspaper spelling code has made certain capitulations to custom. Of 40,000 names listed by the National Geographic Society, 78 exceptions to the strict rule have been agreed on because the Anglicized form has been crystallized in general usage. Here are a few samples of the exceptions:

Germany: Brunswick for Braunschweig; Munich for Muenchen; Cologne for Koeln; Vienna for Wien; Russia: Moscow for Moskva; Sea of Azov for Azovskoe More; Caucasus Mountains for Bolshoi Kavkaz; Crimea for Krymski Polostrov; Poland: Warsaw for Warszawa; Brest Litovsk for Brest nad Bugiem; Italy: Rome for Roma; Florence for Firenze; Venice for Venezia; Miscellaneous: Bucharest for Bucuresti; The Hague for Gravenhage; Formosa for Taiwan.

The reasons for retaining these forms are apparent. They are so familiar that a return to the native spelling would lead to confusion. In fact, it would seem that further exceptions might have been made. Nuremberg will now go back to Nurnberg. The Dnieper and Dniester rivers become the Dnupri and Dnestr. At any rate, introduction of a uniform system for the spelling of proper names will be an aid to persons who try to keep up with the geography of the war.

MacArthur's Letter

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Political realists on Capitol Hill believe that any chance General MacArthur may have had for the Republican nomination for President is gone.

They give two reasons for this: 1. Wendell Wilkie's abyssal failure in the Wisconsin Primary. 2. Release by Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska of his correspondence with the General.

MacArthur's change was in a convention deadlock between Wilkie and Governor Dewey. That was why MacArthur's champions here, and particularly Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, hoped Wilkie would make a good showing in Wisconsin even though they were unalterably opposed to his candidacy.

Wilkie's reputation, which published Dewey into incontrovertible leadership, left them dismayed. They had never imagined the outcome of the election could be so lopsided. Then came the release of the MacArthur letter.

While Vandenberg, who has been MacArthur's most articulate spokesman, is saying nothing publicly, he has not concealed his disappointment from his friends in the Senate. To intimates he has expressed the view that the best thing MacArthur could do today, for himself, for the party, and for the country, would be to state unequivocally that he was not a candidate and would not accept a draft nomination.

Not Deceived
Although he has chosen a kind of into worship for the General, the Michigan Senator knows his politics too well to deceive himself. He has been aware all along that to be available for a draft, in the event of a deadlock, MacArthur would have to state unequivocally that he was not a candidate and would not accept a draft nomination.

That is why Vandenberg worked so hard to discourage the political notices which have injected the General's name openly into the campaign. He has opposed all efforts to put him in primary contests and he has frowned on the MacArthur-for-President club, that have sprung up in some places.

Then came the Miller correspondence to shatter the Olympian silence of the far Pacific. It was like the sound of a penny popgun, in the hushed stillness of an empty stupa.

That General MacArthur appeared to have been the victim of a zealous admirer hardly lessens the effect of the letters. In fact it somehow makes it worse.

Photostats show the General had in his own hand written "personal" across the corner of at least one of the letters. He undoubtedly was surprised by their publication as was everyone else. Vandenberg included; excepting, of course, Congressman Miller, who can hardly have been unaware of the personal publicity that would come of this.

The World and the Mud Puddles

AND SOUTH CAROLINA!

A group of South Carolina Democrats has been organized for the anticipated purpose of defeating President Roosevelt, if he seeks a fourth term, and throwing out of office "the New Deal and all it represents."

It is the first serious split in the history of the party in South Carolina. Even in 1928, when several of southern States turned to Herbert Hoover and away from Al Smith, South Carolina stayed with the party.

South Carolina alone cannot, of course, turn the tide of the campaign. But the action of the party members in this staunchest of all Democratic States is significant just as the recent upsets in Kentucky have betrayed deep unrest in border-line States, the South Carolina action confirms it and carries the upsurge of party revolt into dangerous territory for the New Deal.

There doubtless will be other similar organizations throughout the South. These people are abandoning none of their party ideals. Instead, they are trying to reclaim them. The announcement of the new Democratic party in South Carolina said, among other things, that it is "pledged to the Democracy of Wade Hampton and his followers who redeemed South Carolina from scalawags, carpetbaggers and depredators in reconstruction days."

These trends are worth watching. They are breaking out all over the south, as well as in former Democratic strongholds in northern states. Democratic Senators are beginning to break, unable to reconcile their views of democracy with the machine they see now seeking to perpetuate itself in office and establish a dynasty of corrupt power, in the name of a party which it has all but succeeded in capturing.

A southern revolt is the hope for the Democratic party ever to be returned to the people and made it and who believe in its original principles, most of which have been abandoned by the national administration which masquerades under its banner.

Two other straws in the political wind are evidenced in announcements by Senators W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas and Johnson of Colorado, that they are no longer able to support President Roosevelt and his New Deal following the South Carolina action.

The Texas Senator has been particularly vocal in his past approval of the New Deal. It is significant, also, that these men, who doubtless are the advance scouts for others of their party who are going out of the bureaucratic wilderness in which they found themselves, lay stress upon not merely the head of the party and his fourth term aspirations, but upon the lesser fry as well.

The "palace guard" as these unknowns are called, have been going about the country and some of them even to other countries, outlining their grandiose collectivist schemes and impudently proclaiming themselves as spokesmen for the American people. They to a large extent are bringing the death of responsibility to the country by their actions around the ears of the administration.

JUNIOR HOSTESS IN SERVICE CLUB

"Very soon, I shall start as a junior hostess in our local service club. Could you give me some ideas as to my duties. How I should dress, etc., etc."—Louise.

Answer: An attractive personality and appearance, a good knowledge of the latest dance steps are the most essential requirements. If you play the piano, sing, play table tennis and cards, you will find yourself in great demand. A happy disposition, a companionable manner, free of husband-hunting tendencies, will make you popular with the unmarried visitors. Take an interest in their conversation, but give no impression of being curious. Do not ask personal questions. Let the men tell you their life stories—or as much of them as they please. Your conversation with a serviceman should be about his home town, where he went to school, if he is young, what he did before entering the service, his hobbies, movies, in other words, generalities and not personalities. Never ask him where he has been, where he is staying, where he thinks he might go and other such military matters not for civilian ears.

Beat in mind that the service club is not a matrimonial agency so don't give the impression that you are there date-hunting.

Remove your hat. Informality should prevail. Of course, there is no drinking at these centers, other than soft drink.

Your main duties consist of helping to give the boys amusement with the feminine touch which they sadly miss at camp.

A mature mind is one that doesn't get panicky or flustered about things that won't matter tomorrow.

"I made him, what he is" usually means: "He once worked for me till he got tired of being underpaid."

Ignorance of the law is no excuse, but in these bureaucratic days it saves you a lot of paper work.

Humility is not a virtue of the poor and humble. It is a virtue only when you have reason to be proud.

A luxury is any article for which the manufacturer gets $128 and the retailer $375.

Along about this time of year when wives and mothers are doing their spring "housecleaning," fathers and children never can find anything in the disrupted household. But the other evening our neighbor up the street was reading

Bricker Might Follow Lead Of Wilkie
Ohio Candidate Could Also Quit Contest
Jap Merchant Fleet Facing Annihilation

By HILLEN ESSARY

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Wendell Wilkie's swing, long after the Wisconsin primary might just as well have been a duet with Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio chiming in on the final notes.

For Wilkie's announcement of withdrawal was virtually an announcement of Governor Bricker's withdrawal from the presidential race.

Although Bricker is expected to continue campaigning for the G. O. P. presidential nomination, it is felt that Wilkie has ended Bricker's chances as Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York at the Republican convention was seen as Bricker's only hope for the nomination.

With the fading away of his chance to become a compromise candidate, Bricker is expected to step aside, Dewey's nomination being a foregone conclusion.

Navy Roams Pacific
JAPAN'S MERCHANT FLEET now faces annihilation under the guns and carrier-based planes of America's fleet, which is roaming the Pacific virtually at will.

The recent heavy blows against Jap shipping by United States task forces demonstrated that enemy vessels no longer are safe even in harbors protected by land-based planes.

Jap supply ships were caught like sitting ducks in harbors at Rabaul, Kavieng, Truk, Salpau and Palau by Navy dive and torpedo bombers and the guns of our battleships, cruisers and destroyers.

According to some naval experts, this situation may finally force the hiding Japanese fleet to fight in an effort to maintain its tenuous supply lines.

These developments take on added significance in the light of the fact that America's submarine offensive still is mounting in scope. Jap ships are being torpedored by undersea craft from enemy home waters to the East Indies.

The recent assault on once-proud Palau, forecasted a similar task force blow at the hitherto untouchable Bonin Islands and enemy harbors in the Philippines.

Four-F's For War Plants
RECENT SELECTIVE SERVICE and War Relocation Commission move seem to have provided the overwriting on the wall for the 4-F draft classification as a draft-proof "sanctuary." It appears that very shortly the rejectees will be obliged either to get into useful war work of their own accord or start working for the government in administrative capacities.

The reason the nation needs 4-F's to replace men drafted from war plants, agriculture and war-supporting industry. There are approximately three million of these activities which would not necessarily disqualify them from essential employment.

Selective Service Director Louis B. Hershey says too many 4-F's have used their classification as a means not to work or to work in unessential activities. These men, he insists, now constitute the greatest reserve pool of manpower to replace men drafted from industry and agriculture.

War Relocation Commission Paul V. McNutt estimates that most 4-F's already are in useful work, but that more than $50,000,000 in trade services, finance, insurance and real estate and a great many more are students.

NEW ISSUE IN SEDITION TRIAL

Flight From Justice Of One Defendant Raises New Issue In Case

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—The flight from justice of one of the 30 defendants in the government's mass sedition trial raised a new issue in the proceedings today despite FBI apprehension of the fugitive, Edward J. Smythe of New York.

Ira C. Koehn, representing four of the defendants, disclosed that a group of defense attorneys have decided to oppose trial of Smythe with the others on the ground that their clients might be "prejudiced" by his action.

Smythe was picked up by FBI agents yesterday at Ausable Chasm, N. Y., after Presiding Judge Edward C. Elmer had suspended the trial for 24 hours because of his failure to appear.

"We will raise the question of whether the other defendants will not be prejudiced by being tried with a defendant who has done a trick of this kind," Koehn declared.

While U. S. Attorney O. John Rogge planned to press for selection of a jury starting today several other court-appointed defense attorneys opposed the proposal to give Smythe separate trial.

P. Bateman Ennis, counsel for Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, alleged German-American Bund leader, contended that "severance" for Smythe would be tantamount to "letting him go free" because the charge is conspiracy.

Similarly, Ben Lindas, representing George Sylvester Viereck, declared himself against "any delays or any severance."

Koehn and others of the 28 defense counsel planned to press for a ruling on their challenge of advance FBI investigation of prospective jurors in the case.

"The unqualified examination of prospective jurors," said Koehn, "creates a condition in the minds of prospective jurors that they are not free—that they are under coercive influence of the FBI."

Find Movie Stunt Too Colossal To Be Carried Out

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS)—The movie industry's flair for doing things on a colossal, stupendous and gigantic scale is well-known, but one company was forced to admit today that it had promised more than it could deliver.

United Artists Company was required to send a hurried correction on a press release which had to do with a publicity stunt calling for repayment to a committee of Indians of three bottles of liquor paid in 1644 for Manhattan island by the early Dutch settlers.

"Please eliminate any reference that repayment will be made plus six per cent interest," begged United Artists. "We have just learned to our horror that the six per cent interests on three bottles for 300 years comes to more than one hundred million bottles of whiskey compounded."

"The stunt ain't worth it. As a matter of fact the whole stunt is off—we are having trouble getting just three bottles."

Lieut. Colonel Roosevelt Is Made Colonel

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—Lieut. Col. James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president today was promoted to be a full colonel in the marine corps.

The announcement was made by marine corps headquarters in Washington, but the marines would not disclose the nature of Col. Roosevelt's future duties or his next assignment.

The colonel, who participated in the daring marine raid on Makin Island in the Pacific has been wounded and decorated for bravery for his services in the Pacific war.

While serving as a White House secretary during Mr. Roosevelt's second term, James was made a lieutenant-colonel in the marine corps reserve. After some criticism of his high rank he accepted demotion to captain and held that rank when he entered active service after Pearl Harbor.

Actor, Now Captain, Leaves Hospital

Captain Hayward, husband of Film Star Ida Lupino, was stricken ill after returning to Hollywood with combat motion pictures he helped shoot during the bloody American occupation of Tarawa.

Nervous tension plus a chronic asthmatic condition forced Hayward to enter the hospital.

HUGE ARMADAS OF U. S. BOMBERS HAMMERS REICH

with Berlin, which was hit by British Mosquitos last night in the wake of yesterday's record daylight attack by 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters. Important engine manufacturing plants, iron foundries and airplane plants also are located in Kassel.

Indicating that the sky offensive may be continuing throughout the day, an International News Service correspondent in the Ploest area reported at 1:15 P. M. (7:15 A. M. EWT) that another large force of bombers and fighters was heard passing over the southeast English coast at that time. The force disappeared in the direction of Calais, heading out high over the fog-shrouded straits.

The official statement detailing the attacks declared tersely: "Fortresses and Liberators invaded Germany in very great strength for the second time within 24 hours today, attacking Luftwaffe fighter factories at Kassel and enemy aircraft parks at Eschwege, southeast of Kassel, and Paderborn, Gutersloh, Lippstadt and Werl, all east of Hamm."

"Very strong forces of Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs escorted the heavy bombers."

The combination of last night's and today's raids demonstrates the manner in which the Allied air forces are concentrating on certain invasion prerequisites London quarters pointed out.

The U. S. airmen obviously are striving to obliterate the Nazi air force, while the RAF heavy bombers are performing a tactical function—that of wiping out German lines of communications in France.

This strategy represents almost a complete reversal of that utilized a year ago. At that time, these sources recalled, the American fliers hit France more often than did the British bomber command which concentrated almost exclusively on the Reich.

Coastal observers watched the big daylight formations of the type which ripped Berlin in a record attack yesterday, roar out over the channel just a few minutes ahead of speedy fighter squadrons. A few minutes later enemy radio outlets began to warn of the approach of American planes and speak of swirling dogfights over the Weser mountains in the west-central section of the country.

Big Night Attack

Last night's attacks also saw fast-flying British Mosquito bombers hammer at Berlin in a follow-up assault to yesterday's daylight blow by some 2,000 planes. The great weight of the night attacks, however, was thrown against French railroads serving Nazi defense zones along the invasion coast.

Marshalling yards, switching points and workshops in the Paris area were hit with overpowering force, with the towns of Noisy-Le-Hyphen, Sec and Juvisy on the outskirts of the former French capital blasted heavily. Other rail yards at Rouen and Tergnier also were attacked.

Fourteen planes were lost in the night's operations, which included extensive mine-sowing forays over enemy waters.

The attacks were the first night sweeps against French communications since early last week when some 900 planes dropped more than 3,600 tons of bombs—the greatest total yet tossed in a single night. Use of the phrase "more than 1,000" bombers indicated that the operations may have been of record scope, since those are the words used by the air ministry to denote its heaviest attacks. Bright moonlight favored the attackers and results are expected to be good.

Fresh Bombings

The communique revealed also that earlier in the night Beaufighters of the coastal command attacked two armed trawlers off the Frisian Islands, sinking one ship and leaving the second in a sinking condition.

With the coming of daylight, the German home radio chain warned at intervals of the approach of fresh bombing formations and asserted that violent aerial battles were under way over the Weser mountains in west-central part of the country.

During the briefing period preceding last night's raids against the French railway targets, Allied crew men were warned to exercise the greatest care in their precision bombing. Such admonitions are known to be customary prior to assaults upon targets in occupied France.

The rail targets are among the most important communications centers for the entire railway system of northern France. Rouen, at the mouth of the Seine, is a key point on the lines linking Paris and Dieppe, and is vital to defense of the coastline between Cherbourg and Dieppe.

Tergnier, lying some 70 miles northeast of Paris in the Somme Valley, stands athwart a railroad network joining the Rhineland with Northern France. A rail link runs to Belgium some 40 miles north.

Juvisy, 10 miles distant, is an important clearance point for railway traffic bound south from Paris and at this place the tracks diverge to Orleans and the general north-eastern web.

Woman Welder

Shows Home Front Wartime Courage

AURORA, Ill., April 19.—(INS)—A woman welder in the plant of the Lyon Metal Company of Aurora provided an example today of how the theatrical tradition that "the show must go on" may be carried over into war work.

While at work in the plant, Mrs. Evelyn Foot, 28, was called to the telephone. She returned to her job after receiving the message, her welding mask covering her face. She finished her work and then went home.

The telephone call notified her that her husband, Corp. David Foot, had been killed in action in the South Pacific March 26.

House Passage Of Lend-Lease Extension Near

Some Curb May Be Placed On Presidential Authority In Final Settlements

By FRANK B. ALLEN (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—A bill to extend the lend-lease act beyond its present expiration date of June 30, 1944, moved toward certain House passage today, with some possibility administration fear might muster strength enough to impose a curb on presidential authority in final settlements.

Meanwhile, bitter debate developed, with Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., referring to the American lend-lease donor as "Uncle Sam" and Rep. Elmer (R) Mo., declaring "there's not a nation on the face of the earth that wouldn't cut the throat of the United States in their own self interest."

Elmer rejected the suggestion of Rep. Bloom (D) N. Y., chairman of the House foreign affairs committee that he withdraw the statement from the record.

Latin-American expenditures came under fire, with Knutson asserting that "they build up about as much good will as though we set up 500 Christmas trees."

Bloom said lend-lease spending in Latin-America amounted to only 137 million dollars, and that the six billion dollars referred to by critics were for other things, including the Pan-American highway authorized by Congress.

Governor Martin Remains Silent On Nomination

Pennsylvania Chief Executive Conceals Any Presidential Aspirations He May Have

By JOHN PAGET
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, April 19.—Any presidential aspirations held by Gov. Edward Martin were carefully hidden today despite reports that he was a possible choice of delegates to the Republican national convention because of his record.

A veteran of five wars, the governor and Gen. Douglas MacArthur were advanced as GOP presidential possibilities by Col. Robert McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Governor Martin said McCormick's suggestion was a "very fine tribute" but refused to be smoked out by reporters concerning personal political ambitions or the commitments of Pennsylvania's 70-member delegation.

"I feel that the party needs a young man for president," the 64-year-old chief executive said. However, he refused to publicly endorse Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, leading Republican possibility, pending a pre-convention meeting of delegates at Philadelphia May 20 and in view of some support for General MacArthur, Lt. Gen. Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

There is nothing to indicate that the delegates would be for any certain candidate but there may be developments between now and the meeting," he stated. "If there is a crystallization of opinion some decision might be made."

The governor, who has said the Republican presidential nomination was a home no one could refuse, added that the possibility that he would be a compromise nominee was "very remote" at this time.

Simultaneously, Governor Martin urged greater political activity by women voters and endorsed a suggestion that the convention keynote speaker be a woman. Among those he named as qualified were Mrs. Claire Booth Luce, Connecticut congresswoman; Mrs. John Huber, president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Hannah Durham of Allentown and Mrs. Marion Margery Scrantom of Waverly, GOP national committee-woman.

DENIES STATE IS MAKING PROFITS

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—A charge of "big Ed V. Izak" ("D") California, that every state in the nation was "sucking away war-time profits" was denied on behalf of Pennsylvania today by Gov. Edward Martin.

"As far as I know," he said, "everything has been done by Pennsylvania and the political subdivisions to further the war effort. In doing this they have laid aside money for postwar programs and to my mind that is good government."

"Of course, there is a school of thought that believes it is heresy to lay away for a rainy day, but I don't belong to that group."

GIRARD.—Apparently believing people will buy anything now, officials of the new Erie County home, near Girard, were extremely honest in advertising 31 cows for sale. "All the cows do is eat and give little in return," they explained.

Birds, Animals Figure In News

LONDON.—(INS)—A female swan, which lost her mate and one eye when the famed English town of Bath, Somerset, was blitzed in 1941, has found a new romance at the historic palace occupied by the Bishop of Wells.

The swan was taken to the palace moat by the bishop, who provided her with a new "husband" and soon learned to ring the draw-bridge bell as a signal that the swans were hungry. Now she wants to do all the ringing.

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—Veteran of a 12,000-mile ocean voyage, Ack-Ack, the crow, leads the life of Riley at the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens these days.

Ack-Ack, so named because of the racket he makes, boarded a ship 100 miles off the coast of India during a storm, and became the pet of the crew. Eventually a crew member presented Ack-Ack to a Quaker City friend who turned the crow over to the zoo.

MONTE VISTA, Colo.—(INS)—Quintuplets were born to each of two ewes at the Charlie Doney ranch near Monte Vista. Quintuplets are almost as rare in the sheep world as among humans.

Two other ewes at the same ranch recently gave birth to quadruplets. These two ewes, in the past, have given birth to a total of 15 sets of triplets.

Government experts reported that "anything above triplets in the sheep world is exceptional" with some saying they had never heard of quintuplets before.

All the ewes and their new, mass production lambs, are getting along nicely, thank you.

Saves $8,000 Cost On Ship Launching

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(INS)—When the Navy's super-dreadnaught USS Wisconsin was launched at Philadelphia last December 7, the government saved more than $8,000 due to the ingenuity of an employee.

That was revealed today when an award of $600 was made under the Navy's employee suggestion program to Isadore G. Gilden, Philadelphia Navy yard worker, who devised a new implement for setting up and removing keel block wedges under vessels being constructed.

The device antiquates the "iron ram," only means which had been used for jamming in and removing the essential "marrying wedges" in bilge keels and keel blocks, which support the tremendous weights of ships under construction.

The Navy said Gilden's creation already is in use at the New York Brooklyn and Norfolk Navy yards and it will be employed at other Naval activities. In the Wisconsin case, it saved approximately $7,500 in labor costs and $700 in material.

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

By LEWIS L. DAYTON, County Agent

"PLANTING GARDEN SEEDS"

Most garden crops are produced from seeds. The method of planting often determines the success of the crop. All garden seeds should be planted in soil which is well prepared and which is dry enough to work satisfactorily.

Most gardeners make a trench in which to place the seeds. The depth of the seeds depends upon the size of the seed. A good rule to follow is to cover the seed with dirt to the depth of four times the thickness of the seed. The trench should be filled over the seeds in order to eliminate air space and bring as much soil in contact with the seed as possible.

Wet soil often dries out with a heavy coat over the seed following this operation and the seeds may be unable to reach the surface. Where this is likely to be a problem, covering the seed with sand or lighter soil may be practical. Care should be taken to avoid sewing the seed too deep. Suggestions for the proper spacing of seeds is often found on the envelope in which they are purchased.

Committee Of Congress Seeks Help Of Public

Congressional Tactics Are Reversed By Bi-Partisan House Committee

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
U.S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—A bi-partisan House committee reversed congressional tactics today and went to the people with a fight for legislation.

"It's unique," said Rep. Tom Scanlon (D-Pa.).

"Instead of the public coming to Congress, we're going to the public for help."

The Pittsburgh Congressman and his associates on the committee for the protection of the consumer have started a "grass roots" backfire to "save the price control act" from "crippling" amendments. They also want another thirty million dollars for OPA to strengthen enforcement of price and rationing controls.

Several score representatives of farm, labor, veterans, education, religious and consumer organizations assembled in Washington today at Scanlon's call to touch off the drive to reenact the price act "as is." The law expires June 30.

The Scanlon group, claiming the support of close to 100 congressmen, has as its chief targets these proposals:

1. An amendment to strike out the words "generally fair" from the price act's provision authorizing OPA to establish price ceilings "generally fair" for any industry.
2. An amendment making OPA ruling subject to review by the nearly 100 regularly constituted Federal District courts.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 19.—Gov. Edward Martin's disclosure that there was considerable sentiment in Pennsylvania for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as the Republican Presidential nominee was taken as a fair indication that the state's delegation to the National Convention at Chicago will be in the New Yorker's corner if he openly announces his candidacy and gathers support in early balloting.

Pennsylvania's 70-member delegation probably will swing to Dewey after a favorite son vote for Governor Martin.

There have been indications, however, that Pennsylvania will not support Dewey unless he is an announced candidate.

If such is the case, Governor Martin probably will hold the delegation if possible for Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio.

The state's leaders, however, have not lost hope of throwing Governor Martin into the battle for votes if the convention becomes deadlocked.

The Governor has said that no man could expect the honor of being president and thus has made himself available in case of a deadlock.

Leaders point out that the Governor has an acceptable political background and a military record covering five wars.

The Land Office patent book in the Department of Internal Affairs contains curious and disjointed entries by John A. Amig between 1847 and 1852.

The first entry, on March 27, 1847, stated that the wind was high and cold "and pigeons by the hundreds, maybe thousands, thus the pigeons that inhabit Capitol Park now may be descended from the pigeons Amig saw 97 years ago."

In August, 1849, the book noted that Gen. Zachary Taylor was in Harrisburg for two days and under the date of July 9, 1850 it was disclosed that Taylor had died and was taken to Kentucky for burial.

According to Amig, gas lights were not introduced in Harrisburg and piped into the old Capitol until January 1851.

The names of Pennsylvania's 67 counties are derived from nine sources, according to Henry E. Penhade, English professor at the Pennsylvania State college, in a section of the Pennsylvania manual.

He points out that all counties in the Commonwealth stemmed from the three original counties, Bucks, Chester and Philadelphia. Names for three counties were derived

Huge Planes May Soon Be In Service

Hundred Passenger Type May Be Available For Air Riding Public

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—Jack Frye, president of TWA, and co-pilot of the giant Constellation which broke the coast-to-coast record, revealed today that planes of this 100-passenger type may soon be in use for the air riding public.

At a news conference, Frye said that his company is building 40 Constellations for the army, and "some may be turned back to us. These will be put to service instantly and wherever needed on our commercial line."

The TWA chief also predicted that the Constellation will be a small plane among big ones within a few years.

Frye said that the nation is heading toward gigantic airplane development and believes that successful competition within the industry will work out the air problems of the future. He does not favor any government aid toward financing the airplane industry.

Frye emphasized that the major control problems necessary for the flying and landing of planes of the Constellation's size throughout America had already been worked out.

"You have to have fairly large size planes to achieve the best economy," he said. "We are now carrying premium traffic, mail passengers at slightly higher rates, but when rates are reduced, the plane will open up a new group of services just as the auto increased the radius of activity in America."

He does not see the airplane supplanting the railroad but as increasing travel, though admitting that it will get a large share of long haul business.

Seeks To Reverse Industry Trend On Concentration

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—Attorney General Francis Biddle today urged a demobilization policy that will reverse the war trend toward concentration of industry.

Testifying before a Senate military affairs subcommittee, Biddle said the Department of Justice would welcome responsibility to investigate sales of surplus plants and property to see that anti-monopoly laws are not violated. He also urged Congress to consider a flexible policy in disposing of aluminum plants and other factories if it wants to see industry preserved in the West and South.

A provision in the George-Murray demobilization bill, which directs the attorney general to report results of surveys to Congress to determine whether there are factors tending to eliminate competition or hurt small business, was approved by Biddle.

Heavy Opposition For Some Bombers In Raid On Berlin

Returning Fliers Say Most Of Entire Luftwaffe Must Have Been In Air

By DIXIE TIGHE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
A FORTRESS BASE IN BRIT-AIN, April 19.—Some of the American Fortresses in their latest raid on Berlin yesterday must have run into practically the entire German air force, "including Hermann", in the opinion today of one U. S. pilot whose crippled plane battled as many as 75 enemy interceptors at a time.
Capt. Edward Landak of Pierce, Neb., described the hell that broke loose when his Fort was forced to break formation and was promptly set upon by swarms of Nazi fighters.
From the ensuing 15-minute battle,
all his crew members emerged unscathed.
"The Germans came in 50 to 75 at a time, with the 'scru' teams" hitting us waiting for their turn to attack
the lone Fort, Landak said.
"They fire at will, for a time I thought every member of the crew was named Will," he added faceti-ously.
"The entire Luftwaffe, every member including Hermann, must have been up there today, and they were flying true collision courses."

Only One Division
Editor's Note: An official American headquarters statement announced that only one division of the planes blasting Berlin ran into heavy opposition, with the remainder enjoying comparatively easy sailing.

Trouble started 90 minutes from the target when the ball turret gunner, Sgt. Robert Johnson of Banning, Calif., passed out from lack of oxygen—not once, but twice.
When the pilot was forced to break formation, the enemy fighters swarmed in but the crew, instead of losing their nerve, lost their temper. They fired everything they had at the Nazis.

When Tech. Sgt. T. M. Wright, radio operator of Morton, Tex., had nothing left to fire, he threw a few lead pencils at the attacking fighter.
"We were lucky," said Sgt. Aaron Berman of Brooklyn, N. Y., while rattling a pair of lucky dice—similar to those carried by each member of the crew.

"When we got the order to bail out, I was nearly out the door before
Sgt. Charles Sauer of Louisville, Ky., gently tapped me and told me
all was well.

"To tell the truth, what I was thinking of when I started to jump was the fact that I'd won a lot of money with these dice and was glad the dough was in the mail and on the way home."

New Laurels For Gen. MacArthur And Maj. Bong

EVANSTON, Ill., April 19.—(INS)—
New laurels were heaped today on
Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Maj.
Richard I. Bong, America's No. 1 flying ace, but their war records were only indirectly responsible.

Gen. MacArthur won the praise of Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as a "military leader who has become a moral leader."

Maj. Bong was hailed as being a teetotaler and thus "demonstrating to the nation the value of total abstinence."

The story dates back to a promise by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the U. S. ace of World War I, to give a case of Scotch to the first flier in this war to exceed his record of 26 planes shot down.

Maj. Bong, who has brought down 27 enemy planes in the Pacific war theater, said that while he doesn't drink, he'd accept the liquor and pass it on to friends.

Whereupon, Gen. MacArthur ruled against Maj. Bong accepting the whisky because he did not consider "liquor or spirituous wines as appropriate recognition of Bong's deeds."

Mrs. Smith characterized Gen.
MacArthur's stand as a "bold challenge to other military leaders, who should realize that it keynotes the handling of the entire liquor problem as far as servicemen are concerned."

Western State Governor May Be Keynote

CHICAGO, April 19.—(INS)—A strong sentiment for the selection of a western state governor as the keynote at the Republican National convention developed today at the meeting of the party's committee on arrangements.

Among the governors prominently discussed for temporary chairman, whose task it is to sound the keynote for the November campaign, were Earl Warren, California; Dwight Griswold, Nebraska; Andrew Schoepel, Kansas, and Dwight H. Green, Illinois.

The chances of Green, however, were regarded as slim because of the tradition against having a keynote from the state which is host to the convention. The Republican convention will be held in Chicago beginning June 26.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, minority leader, was slated for the permanent chairmanship, with no signs of opposition.
Because Martin is from the East,
the G. O. P. leaders were reported to deem it advisable to go west for the keynote.

The arrangements committee, of which Walter S. Hallahan, of West Virginia, is chairman, also had before it for consideration as keynote the names of Sens. Arthur H.
Vandenberg, Mich.; W. G. Revercomb, W. Va., and Kenneth Wherry, Neb.; Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, Conn.; Rep. Charles A. Halleck,
Ind.; Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Okla., and Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

A total of 220,000 aircraft engines rolled from assembly lines from the beginning of the war to the end of 1943, representing 297,150,000 man-made horsepower.

SATURDAY IS WASTE PAPER DAY

How Waste Paper goes to war

The waste paper you collect, bundle and turn in is rapidly reprocessed into war paper for our fighters. They use it in over 700,000 ways. They must have it. So never burn or throw away waste paper—turn it all in—now! Here's how it's used:

PAPER-WRAPPED SUPPLIES by the ton are stored here in a gigantic pantry of the U. S. Naval Base in Londonderry, Ireland.

PAPER BLOOD PLASMA CONTAINERS, transported by these Papuan natives, are carrying the stuff of life itself to troops in the South Pacific.

PAPER RATION "K" CONTAINERS are doubly important to these jungle fighters who depend on strength and vitality for their lives.

Your country is calling on you Saturday! Calling for waste paper—our greatest war material shortage.

Our fighting men must have paper! For ammunition cases, helmet linings, bomb bands, food and blood plasma containers Paper has over 700,000 critical war uses.

But waste paper is scarce! Reserves are dangerously low! Americans must turn in 8,- 000,000 tons this year.

Every day should be waste paper day in your home. . . . to help win the war faster . . .
to bring more boys home safely.

But SATURDAY IS THE DAY to put waste paper out for collection.

Alleged Wife Swapping Is Being Probed

Pastor Under Investigation Is Given Vote Of Confidence
By Congregation

LANSING, Mich., April 19.—(INS)—
The Rev. James C. Lambert, under investigation for allegedly sponsoring wife swapping among his flock, held a vote of confidence from his congregation today.
The attractive, red-haired wife of a war worker, Mrs. Marie Rice, 25, who charged the 44-year-old pastor with beguiling her into intimacies and fostering the exchange of mates, was not in the worshiping group that stood in the pastorate prayer room last night and backed their preacher.
Some 130 members of the congregation of both sexes were on hand when the Rev. Lambert opened the service, announcing a diet, his favorite hymn: "God Had Never Failed Me Yet."

Preceding the big meeting, the faithful met with the pastor in the prayer room. Their voices could be heard shouting the praises of the Lord and Rev. Lambert through the auditorium.

After the hymn singing the secretary called for a vote of confidence. Most of the congregation arose.

"I thank you, I love you, God bless you!" cried the Rev. Lambert.
Then he placed his arms around his wife, who rushed to the pulpit
beside him, and shouted:
"This is my first wife, and my last, and I love her."

While the congregation wept and prayed with their pastor, Mrs. Rice, mother of a 2-year-old boy, who admitted falling under the spell of the "chained religionist" told further details of the story at her home, said Mrs. Rice.

"He talks so beautiful—I just believed everything he said. At first when I met him down south he used to kiss me and hold my hand.
He said I was beautiful work of God. He said we were young only one and that his wife was so much older than he and that Solomon had a thousand wives why shouldn't we have two?"

A copy of Mrs. Rice's statement and those taken from others have been forwarded by Ingham County Prosecutor Victor C. Anderson to FBI officers in Detroit for possible action under the Mann Act.

George Washington was 29 years old when the colonies adopted the Gregorian calendar which moved his birth date from February 11 to February 22. He never celebrated his birthday on the latter date.
Friends gave him his first birthday party on February 22 and it was celebrated at Valley Forge in 1778.

Report Progress In Counterfeit Gas Coupon Drive

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—Use of counterfeit gasoline coupons in the Pittsburgh district has dropped from approximately 50 per cent of consumption in March to three per cent as a result of a stringent enforcement drive, District OPA Director
Alvin J. Williams said today.

The results were achieved largely through rigid examination of distributor ration bank accounts by OPA enforcement attaches.

At the same time Chief OPA Enforcement Attorney John A. Metz, Jr., said a check of consumers at gasoline stations revealed 99 per cent compliance with the requirement that coupons bear the license number and state of the vehicle supplied gasoline. Local boards in the Pittsburgh district began so to mark coupons before issuance in February.

In the drive against counterfeit coupons 186 gasoline dealers have had their ration accounts debited for acceptance of counterfeit coupons to the extent of 93,353 gallons. Eleven gasoline stations have been debited out of business entirely as the result of acceptance of counterfeit coupons to the entire extent of their allowable inventory.

For acceptance of stolen and counterfeit coupons 42 gasoline dealers have had suspension order proceedings started against them since January 1, 1944. Twenty of these have already been suspended for varying periods.

Suspension hearings were to be given 16 dealers here by Commissioner John O'Rourke beginning yesterday.

Governor Bricker Goes To Arizona

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—(INS)—
Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio Republican presidential candidate, was to board a plane today for Phoenix, Ariz., on his way back to Columbus at the end of a busy 10-day tour of the Pacific states.

The governor, in his last public appearance on the coast, rapped
what he termed the War Relocation
Authority's laxity and inefficiency.
He declared American communities should be permitted after the war to decide for themselves whether or not they will receive disloyal Japanese left in this country.

For the disloyal Japanese, Gov.
Bricker advocated deportation.

The WRA showed inefficiency and laxity in permitting the release of Japanese from relocation centers, the Ohioan declared.

Two Jap Attacks Are Repulsed In Imphal Sector

KANDY, CEYLON, April 19.—
(INS)—Two Japanese attacks on Allied positions east of Palel, 20 miles southeast of Imphal in India, were successfully repulsed, headquarters of Admiral Lord Louis
Mountbatten announced today.

West of Bishnupore, south of the Bishnupore-Silchar jungle track which serves as a vital supply route to Imphal, bitter fighting continued for possession of a hill feature.

A Jap raiding party which attempted to reach a road in the eastern foothills of the Mawla range on the Arakan front was repulsed.
In the Moguang valley the 38th Chinese division reached the Lankaw river.

CHILD SMOTHERS AT ALIQUIPPA

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 19.—The one-year-old daughter of an army deputy, who is "somewhere in the Pacific," was smothered to death in the bed clothing of its crib here Tuesday.

When Mrs. Harold Lemaire of 378 Franklin avenue went to the crib to arouse the child, she found it dead.
The mother had been busy with housecleaning and had not noticed the baby's cries.

Spinal meningitis claimed another victim here yesterday when James Albert Dunn, 12, son of Mr.
and Mrs. J. A. Dunn of R. D. 1, died after 10 hours' illness, Coroner
John Davis reported.

States struck by the rising sun is Mount Katahdin, Maine.

Call For Special Session Is Ready

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—
Gov. Edward Martin said the call officially convening a special session of the general assembly May 1 was completed today and that he expected to release it following tomorrow's meeting with the bipartisan committee drafting amendments to absentee voting laws.

The call, he added, will be confined to subjects relating to elections in an effort to complete the session in one week.

The general assembly is being re-convened to facilitate voting next November by members of the armed forces from Pennsylvania.

Senator Burton Seeks To Spur Canal Project

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Senator Burton, Republican, Ohio, disclosed that he has prepared an amendment adding the $38,000,000 Beaver-Mahoning canal to the $400,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization bill.

A Senate commerce subcommittee, of which Burton is a member, will begin a hearing next Tuesday on the bill.

Burton informed the Senate of his plans after Chairman Overton, Democrat, Louisiana, announced the hearings on the bill which would authorize construction after the war.

Some proponents contend that the Army engineers could build the waterway without further congressional action since Congress authorized a canal from the Ohio river to Lake Erie in 1935. The engineers, however, have expressed doubt that the 1935 bill permits construction only as far as the Youngstown area. Burton wants to clarify this.

Increased Milk Prices In State May Be Favored

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin said he was "encouraged" today over the possibility of winning federal approval for increased milk prices in Pennsylvania at Friday's meeting in Washington with Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson and other federal officials.

"The fact that the hearing was granted is encouraging," he commented. "We're going down there and just feel our way along."

The governor will be accompanied by Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst and John M. McKee, chairman of the Milk Control commission.

The delegation hopes to win Vinson's approval of a six-month-old commission order boosting consumer prices two cents a quart and making comparable increases to dairymen. Federal price control officials have refused to approve the milk order on the ground that it is "inflationary."

Representatives of 12 northeastern milk producing states were expected to attend the conference along with Chester Bowles, director of the Office of Price Administration, and Marvin Jones, war food administrator.

Motor-driven electrical appliances must be oiled! The one drop you forgot to use yesterday may mean a worn-out motor that might have given another year of service, had you not been careless about your treatment of it. A bit of lubrication, at frequent intervals, makes a big difference in smooth operation, and extends the life and service of your electrical appliances.

Many little things you can do yourself . . . careful cleansing and storage will protect these household appliances from accidental damage . . . the tightening of a loose screw may prevent future trouble . . . and don't forget that frequent dose of oil. If anything goes wrong, call a repair man immediately . . . you can't be too careful!

Safety Of Rome Up To Germany

President Roosevelt Places
Responsibility On Hitler
For Possible Destruction

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—The state department revealed today that President Roosevelt has placed full responsibility on Germany for any possible destruction of the city of Rome.

This was made known when the state department made public the Prime Minister De Valera of Eire, in response to an expression of anxiety by the Irish leader concerning the danger which now threatens the eternal city.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter apparently was intended both to allay that anxiety and to place the blame for whatever might happen to Rome on the Nazi military chiefs.

The text of Mr. Roosevelt's letter to De Valera follows:

"I have received through your minister your recent communication concerning the danger which now threatens the city of Rome. I share your concern for the preservation of that ancient monument of our common civilization and faith.

"It is well known that American military authorities in Italy are committed to a policy of avoiding damage to religious shrines and historical monuments to the extent humanely possible in modern warfare. This applies to the city of Rome as well as to other parts of Italy where the forces of the United Nations are engaged in active fighting. We have tried scrupulously to spare religious and cultural monuments and we shall continue to do so.

"However, in addressing an appeal to the governments of the United States to preserve Rome from destruction, you are, of course, aware that the Germans occupying the Italian capital by force are using to the limits of its capacity the communications network and other facilities of Rome to further a purely German military operation. If the German forces were not entrenched in Rome, no question would arise over the city's preservation.

"I note that you have sent a similar communication to the German government. The fate of Rome rests in that quarter."

Normal Crowds Feature Opening Of 1944 Season

Gloom Disappears As Fans Flock Through Major League Gates

PIRATES FAIL TO REACH SECOND BASE

By JOHN CASHMAN
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, April 19.—Gloom prophesies who have spent the last few months predicting that 1944 major league baseball would be a shattered ruin are invited to inspect the following evidences of this season's normalcy:

(1) The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals are on their way to their respective pennants; (2) not all sports fans were at the race tracks yesterday and (3) no one is yet reported to have died in the field of old age or hardening of the arteries.

Yesterday's opening of the '44 campaign, as a matter of fact, was astoundingly normal. All but one of the games—Cleveland-Chicago—was held, whereas four openers were washed out last season. A fairly large attendance aggregating about 127,000 was seen, with the promise of more to come.

Yanks Defeat Red Sox

The Yankees, without the bunting home of Minors, Joe McCarthy, batted with a 3-0 lead in the first inning. The Yankees took over the Boston Red Sox, 3 to 0, in their first step toward another American League pennant. Before a crowd of 9,973, Johnny Lindell lifted a towering home run in the second inning which provided the first Yankee run. Hank Borowy held the Red Sox to five hits and Yank Terry was tabbed for the loss.

Vice-President Henry Wallace threw out the first ball to start the Washington Senators-Philadelphia Athletics opener then sat down along with 27,000 other capital fans to see the A's win, 3 to 2 in 12 innings. Neither of the starting pitchers went the route and Joe Jerry was credited with the victory. A double by Orville Hall in the twelfth drove in Dick Siebert with the winning run.

Pirates Bow

The St. Louis Browns got off to a flying start before 28,034 fans with a 2 to 1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Both teams collected six hits and a homer each. Pinky Higgins of Detroit and Vernon Stephens of St. Louis whacked out the home runs. Jack Kramer was credited with the victory after fanning eight Detroit batters.

In the National League, the Cards set out to prove they are the most well-balanced in the loop with a 2 to 0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The cold weather held attendance down to 6,244 but Phipps' Max Lanier burned up enemy batting. Max, showing surprising form for early-season pitching, faced only 28 Pirate batters, with not one reaching second base.

Cubs-Reds Draw Best

Another fine pitching performance was turned in by Rookie Bill Voiselle, who twirled the New York Giants to a 2 to 1 win over the Boston Braves. Voiselle fanned nine Boston batters and was reached for just six hits. The crowd of 15,531 was given a thrill when Napoleon Reyes raced in with the winning run in the seventh inning after catching backstop Clyde Klutz off the plate. Klutz had been pulled away from the plate by a wide throw.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, with a makeshift line-up, went down befor the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 1. Of course, Frenchy Bordagaray put the official Dodger stamp on things by being caught napping off second base in the third inning with Luis Olmo at bat. The largest opening attendance for a Phillies debut in years showed up—10,128. The largest crowd of the day—30,154—saw the Chicago Cubs whip the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 0. Hank Wase pitched the shutout and Bucky Walters was tabbed for the loss.

Co-Medalist Out Of North-South Meet

Margaret Gunther Eliminated But Marjorie Row Wins Her Match

PINEHURST, N. C., April 19.—(INS)—One of the co-medalists was out of the running as the 42nd annual north-south women's golf tournament entered the second round of match play today.

Margaret Gunther of Memphis, who shot a 76 to tie with Marjorie Row of Anniston, Ala., in the medal play, was withdrawn, 4 and 3, by P. Kirk of Cleveland in the first round of match play yesterday.

Miss Row advanced by turning back Mrs. W. G. Boggs of Thompson, Pa., 5 and 4.

Kay Byrne Wins

Annette Coor of Philadelphia carried Miss Estelle Lawson Page, former national champion, to the 19th hole, as she played the best round of her career in defeat.

Kay Byrne of Rye, N. Y., became the gallery favorite to win the title in shooting perhaps the best golf of the meet to eliminate Mrs. M. Bowles of Garden City, 3 and 2.

Other winners were Clay O'Connor, Durham, N. C., over Jean Hunkins, Cleveland, 1 up; Katherine Fox, Glen Ridge, N. J., over Mrs. C. R. Harbaugh, Cleveland, 2 and 1; Laedie Irwin, Montclair, N. J., over Mrs. Albert Beck of Englewood, N. J., 2 up; and Jane Crum, Orangeburg, S. C., over Betty Abernathy, Pittsburgh, 3 and 2.

Milwaukee Is Picked To Lead

COLUMBUS, O., April 19.—The Milwaukee Brewers have been chosen to defend their American Association championship successfully in 1944, a poll of Association baseball writers disclosed.

The poll, however, indicated that the Columbus Red Birds were expected to give the Brewers a battle for first place.

Eight of the 15 writers nominated the Brewers to win the pennant again, four picked them to be second and three put them in third place.

Labor Draft Might Aid 4F's

Would Ruin Organized Sport But Would Check Some Remarks

SERVICE WANTS ONLY MEN PHYSICALLY FIT

By JOHN CASHMAN

(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 19.—About the best thing that could happen to sports, according to a surprisingly large number of authorities, is to have the government go ahead and draft 4-F's for war industries. This would ruin sports for the duration as all active enterprise or industry, but it would protect 4-F athletes from many of the crude and cruel remarks centering around their elimination from active service.

This idea comes to mind after the very recent involvement of Beau Jack, the Anguilla, Ga., lightweight, in a fantastic story about Jack's induction being held off by his draft board until he (Jack) had an opportunity to regain his New York Commission lightweight title.

Beau Jack's Target

The report first came to view shortly after Jack whipped Juan Zurita, the Mexican NBA 135-pound boss, in an over-the-weight match at Madison Square Garden. A paper carried the view that the Beau was 1-A but that his draft board would like to see him don a uniform as champion. A little squabble developed around this line, which soon faded away, but it is certain that the rumor, no matter how unbelievable it may have been, left its mark.

Stories similar to that involving Jack have been circulated for some time. There was one about a well known ball player, who was supposed to have grumbled exceedingly about the wisdom of the Selective Service Act. The only thing erroneous in the tale was the fact that the ball player was grumbling because his draft board turned him down for active duty with the Army Air Corps the first three times he tried to enlist.

Too Much Whispering

There has been innumerable whisperings about this or that professional athlete having his earnings punctured purposely. There are cases on record for all to see where athletes to avoid the harshness of the draft, mainly by staying in war industries and thus keeping their draft status.

There are many cases which look none too good to the unpracticed eye or sound sour to the suspicious ear but which, in all actuality, are above-board and necessary. It all stems from the services' insistence on taking for active duty only men who are physically fit.

Reasons for Deferment

The army will not take you if you have stomach ulcers; answer: field rations will not sustain life in a soldier who cannot hold them on his stomach. It will refuse a man with punctured eardrums, since gas would seep into those most vulnerable and least-protected openings, the ears, and result in death or horrible suffering.

It will not take a man who cannot fully use his hands, arms or legs, since, in a moment of peril, he might not be able to protect himself or his comrades-at-arms. It will turn down a man with flat feet, vision, permanently-stiffened muscles, lung defects or any one of a thousand things, and there is a concrete reason for every refusal that refusal is made in good faith.

The Rumors Persist

Still, the rumors and whisperings go on. Many persons are beginning to regard active athletes with contempt, no matter how old they may be. There are catchers in baseball whose fingers resemble the knobby branches of a withered tree, their digits have been broken so many times; Mel Ott, the New York Giant, could not see as far as the Polo Grounds scoreboard even in his finest hitting days, or so the story goes, although he, an exception, is 1-A.

Yes, it would close shop in sports, but if professional athletes are going to be spared because of many draft-free and seemingly capable performers, we might as well turn the 4-F's over to the war industries and forget about them for the duration.

DON'T LOOK TO SUB-DRAFT

With six teams having sent representatives to the initial session of the City Baseball league and a seventh anxious of holding a franchise, it appears as though organized baseball is certain here this season. If the city circuit can prove as successful as the Industrial Baseball loop there will be many chances.

One of the queries that perturbed the circuit officials is the eligibility question. Some of the industrial concerns favor taking on only players who are employed in said industries. This would not suit the Moose, one of the main instruments in local baseball. The Moose is prohibited from accepting members under 21 years of age.

What will happen when the request for transportation gas is made is problematic. The teams will travel several times weekly from diamond to diamond. Those at Monday's session pointed out that the transportation question will have a strong bearing on the league. Lack of gas and rubber put the Lawrence county 23-year-old loop out of existence.

Davis J. Walsh, I. N. S., today comes to bat with an interesting yarn concerning Art Rooney, Pittsburgh's colorful sports figure. In fact, this fellow, Art, is what is known in all crowds as a "right guy."

He is one of the big names in sports, and while the habit is one that is not advisory, he keeps reaching in and out of his pocket to give, not take.

Art's charity is well known in various sections, and by different organizations. However, he's not one to talk and the tales of his kindness have come from friends. He is now in Philadelphia at the National Pro Football league meeting, which causes Walsh to write that among those present is the rather incredible Art Rooney, of whom Bert Bell, a partner, let loose a few paragraphs.

Rooney, just to use briefly the Hollywood Eastern method, Walsh is the guy who went to Saratoga six or seven years ago and beat the books for $247,000 in three weeks. He gave a great deal of this away so as not to be unduly cluttered up with it and then settled down to a life of ease and refinement as a boxing and football promoter in Pittsburgh.

You figure him out. I can't, said Bert Bell. "When he was up there at Saratoga, taking those books for their trousers, he carried two things in his back pocket, a bag of chewing tobacco and a wad of $1,000 bills. He'd reach for the tobacco and our wad would pop the money out as a cascade on the ground." (Continued On Page Fifteen)

Class Meet To Start Thursday

TRACK ONLY FAIR; RECENTLY ASHED

Although Taggart stadium track may not be as fast as usual because of recent work done there, indications point to keen competition when the Inter-class track and field meet gets under way at four p. m. Thursday and concludes Friday afternoon, according to Ralph Gardner, facility manager at New Castle high. Ashes were spread and rolled and entries in the distance events are apt to be slowed up as they lap the track several times. The Junior B's captured the meet in 1943.

Among those who will bear keen watching are some of the 1943 stars because they have improved with a year's experience. They are Jimmy Campbell, hurdler, Steve Wasilewski, distance runner and Jimmy Falk, 220 and 440 yard man. Another who will be eyed closely is Bob Post, last year's George Washington Junior high star in the 100 and 220 dashes.

To provide a line on Who's Who in the coming meet, here are some statistics from 1943:

Running Events

100 yards, Dell, 11.2 seconds.
220 yards, Falk, 25 seconds.
440 yards, Falk, 56.5 seconds.
880 yards, Wasilewski, 2:08.
1 Mile, Wasilewski, 4:52.9.
110 yards relay, Junior A, 1:45.8.

Discus, Razzano, 107 feet, 4 inches.
High jump, Valley, 5 feet, 2 inches.
Pole vault, Sallie, 8 feet.

Broad jump, Campbell, 19 feet, 4 inches.

The classes finished in order named as follows: Junior B, Junior A, Senior B, Sophomore A, Sophomore B and Senior A. Competition was kept between the first three with Sophomore A and Senior A being far down in points.

Jimmy Campbell was the outstanding performer, with three firsts and 15 points and he is expected to shine tomorrow and Friday. Tony Razzano, Jimmy Falk and Steve Wasilewski followed each with two firsts and 10 points. However, Razzano and Roussos will not be in the meet.

Wasilewski and Falk like Campbell, with another year behind them have gathered seasons, are expected to show up exceedingly well; likewise Bob Post, 1943 George Washington dash and broad jump man, Russ Pandia, sprinter and high jumper, and also Valery and Jimmy Garburry, hurdler and high jumper.

Fifteen More Jap Ships Sunk

WASHINGTON, April 19.—American submarines whittling at Japanese sea communications have sunk 15 more enemy ships, the Navy announced Tuesday, to run the total of 682 sunk, probably sunk or damaged.

A medium-sized naval repair ship and three tankers, all of vital importance to the enemy's fleet, were included in the newest sinkings. The other ships included seven medium-sized cargo vessels, two medium-sized cargo-passenger vessels, a small cargo ship and a small cargo-passenger ship.

The Navy did not disclose the area where the ships were sunk except to say it was in "the Pacific and Far East."

Wampum High Juniors Prepare To Stage Play

The Wampum high school junior class will display its wealth of dramatic talent on Thursday, April 20, in the school auditorium. The title of the play will be revealed in "Young and Lively," a comedy in three acts.

The three leading characters are Harold and Bobby Means, brothers, played by Guy Bennett and Eugene Montozzi, and Joe Montozzi as Bill Baker, a young vaudeville on the highway of life, whose advent into the Means' home not only changes his entire outlook on life but also sets right several problems that face the Means boys.

The other characters are the type of young people who are to be found in every community, with Joe Scala as Windy Williams, Charles Porter as Garrison Garwood and William Mills as Abbott Ardley. Pansy Pearl, the comic colored maid, is enacted by Emeline Cini. The other girls in the cast are typical high school students, with Mary Mielke as Evelyn Pringle, Evelyn Roberts as Vivian Adams, Helen McBride as Ruth Reed, Josephine Schena as Elizabeth Evans, and Rosie Schotsch as her sister, Edith Evans.

This play, so applicable to American adolescents, will prove an interesting evening of entertainment.

Wife Of Soldier, Father Of Quads, Takes No Action

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—(INS)—According to her parents, Mrs. William E. Thompson, 25, wife of the army sergeant whose unmarried English girl friend became the mother of quadruplets last month, today is "sitting tight and taking no legal action."

Mrs. Frank Jenemann, the mother, said: "We haven't legally or personally heard a word from England since this terrible thing happened. We aren't going to do a thing about it."

Her husband added: "If anything further breaks in the matter, it will have to come from England."

Mrs. Thompson is "bearing up quite well and feeling better," said her parents.

C.I.O. Aluminum Request Is Denied

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The War Labor board declined on Tuesday to take action on the request of the C.I.O. Aluminum Workers to set a retroactive date for any wage increases which might result from a WLB order on a dispute between the union and the Aluminum Company of America.

The board said that the issue of retroactivity would be considered at the time the wage dispute itself was decided by the board. Labor members dissented.

The union has contracts covering about 70,000 workers in 13 plants of the company. Last January, the union demanded a general increase of 15 cents an hour, a uniform hiring rate of 95 cents, and a uniform wage structure in all the plants.

Men Over 26 Are Sent By Clairton

CLAIRTON, Pa., April 19.—(INS)—Draft board 23 at Clairton today was believed to be the first board in Allegheny county to resume drafting of men over 26 years of age. Nineteen selectees over the age limit who were granted last-minute reprieves from induction into the army last week are now waiting to be called.

In announcing the decision, a spokesman for the board said the recent selective service ruling suspending induction of men over 26 applies only to those who "are making a contribution to essential agriculture, war production or war-supporting activities."

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? YES NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? YES NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? YES NO
Do you feel tired—listless? YES NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you. Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's is taken, as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25c. You'll be glad you did.
